M-C kenma Co., Ltd. is a polishing and processing company that continues to take on the challenge of new fields and applications where it has no track record. They were founded in 2006 as a surface polishing business, mainly for architectural decorative hardware and brass and stainless steel. The abrasive processing industry is aging year by year. Nevertheless, they relocated and expanded to their current headquarters in 2009 and added a second plant in Higashi Osaka City in 2016. They are steadily growing and expanding their area of operations with members of all ages. A wet polishing machine was installed at Plant 2, which reduces heat due to polishing resistance and prevents material burning, resulting in a beautiful surface. The polishing machine is completely custom-made and specialized in mirror finishing, based on the president's own experience.

The range of products covers interior and exterior decorative polishing, as well as industrial equipment components, mainly for the food and pharmaceutical industries. "Even if it's the first time we've been asked to do something for which we have no track record, there is always something we can propose or provide information on. My motto is to never say no", says president Munekazu Maeyama, who is always looking for places where the company can contribute.
